

Dixie Senators May Filibuster On Civil Rights

By JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Senate may be plunged next week into time-killing filibuster against President Truman's civil rights proposals.

If it comes, the talk-fest will be put on by southern Democrats opposing a bi-partisan move to change the Senate rules so that two-thirds of those voting can shut off debate at any time.

The Senate knocked down on a 56 to 31 vote yesterday a Republican move to quicken action on this proposal.

Some of the seven Republicans who voted with 49 Democrats to kill the speed-up move made it known they did so because they feel confident the Senate rules committee will act favorably on the matter tomorrow.

Hayden wouldn't say so, but this report and the rules change resolution may come officially to the Senate next Monday. The resolution will be on the calendar

Bid For Global Aid Taken To Congress

Marshall Plan Calls For $5,580,000,000 Budget

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—America's top foreign aid officials today took to Congress the details of an administration-backed request for $5,580,000,000 to carry the Marshall plan through its second year.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Paul G. Hoffman, Economic Cooperation Administrator, led the witnesses as both Houses begin hearings on continuation of the multi-billion dollar program of European aid.

Hoffman had the bigger part of the job of outlining the past, present and the proposed future of the United States' bid to help stem the tide of Communism by placing western Europe on a sound economic footing. The Senate and House committees which handle foreign relations were assembled jointly for the occasion.

Bills were introduced yesterday in both chambers under which the Marshall plan would run at least until June 30, 1950. The proposal calls for $1,150,000,000 to finance aid from April 3, when present funds are expected to run out, until June 30. Another $4,280,000,000 is requested for the following 12 months.

Thus the $5,580,000,000 figure is, in reality, for 15 months of recovery operations in 19 nations of Europe. Another $150,000,000 included in the proposed appropriation is to be earmarked for long-term contracts and could be spent after June 30, 1950.

Fishpole Robber Snags Socks And Ties From Stores

Santa Monica, Calif., Feb. 8 (AP)—Fishing here has been good the last few nights.

Police reported a "sportsman" with an eight-foot fish pole snagged $200 worth of neckties and socks through the letter slot in the door of a men's shop.

The night before, he got a good string of neckties in like manner from a cleaning and dyeing establishment.

So far the big ones—suits and overcoats—have got away. Letter slots were too narrow.

Norway Gets First Peek At Secrets Of Atlantic Security

By JOHN SCALI

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The United States drew up today its reply to Norway's questions about the price of admission to the Atlantic security alliance.

State department defense experts got orders from Secretary Acheson to give more facts at a second session today with a visiting Norwegian government delegation.

Amid mounting Russian criticism, Acheson personally gave Norway's foreign minister, Halvard M. Lange, his first official look into the heretofore secret defense pact yesterday.

After talking with Acheson for 32 minutes, Lange and his assistants went into a two and one-half hour conference with top officials who are actually negotiating the alliance.

Russia Blasts Pact

Lange came to Washington to inquire personally what obligations Norway would have to assume in order to join the defense arrangement. It is now being negotiated by representatives of the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Russia turned loose another bitter blast against the pact just as Lange prepared to leave Oslo, and suggested Norway seek safety by tying itself up with Russia in a non-aggression pact.

This Russian move caused concern in Norway but failed to keep Lange from going ahead with his mission to Washington.

Top government officials indicated the United States is prepared to assure the Norwegians on two major points:

1. The Atlantic defense pact would require no allied bases on Norwegian territory in peacetime.
2. Norway would get, as a member, its full share of whatever arms, supplies and military advice the American government provides other member nations.

Colored Oleo Bill Runs Into Trouble

Lansing, Feb. 8 (AP)—A bill to permit the sale of colored oleomargarine in Michigan, once regarded as good as passed in legislature, today ran into storms again.

The Senate agricultural committee, which reported the bill for a floor vote last week, recalled it last night to give hostile dairy interests a hearing on it.

Initiated by popular petition, it already had passed the House and was considered a certain bet to pass the Senate as rural Republican legislators gave up their traditional opposition to it. If the legislature fails to pass it by Feb. 15 it goes on the spring election ballot.

Farmer-Legislators had dropped their fight against the measure on the grounds that if they failed to pass it the people would and that it might draw a large urban, and largely Democratic, vote to the spring polls.

It will be reviewed by the committee and its opponents again Thursday afternoon.

At the same time, a move was started in the Senate to take so-called "fortified" wines out of state liquor stores and boost their prices. These wines have been increased to more than 16 per cent alcoholic content by the addition of brandy or spirits.

Senators Harold M. Tripp (R-Allegan) and George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) introduced legislation to impose a $1 a gallon tax on the "fortified" wine, permit sale by private wholesalers to licensed package dealers (SDD) only and to require a wholesale markup of 25 per cent and a retail markup of 33 1/3 per cent.

Tripp said "fortified" wines were selling in Michigan at 78 cents a bottle, compared with 78

Haul Of Narcotics Worth Million Is Made In New York

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Seizure of a store of narcotics with an underworld sales value estimated by police at $1,000,000 was disclosed early today.

The narcotics were seized last night in an apartment where they allegedly were being diluted for retail sale.

The seizure followed the arrest of Joseph Basile, 39, in front of the apartment. He was charged with unlawful possession of narcotics.

Federal agents and city police said heroin, cocaine and apparatus for diluting the pure narcotics were found in the apartment. They said they had found a quantity of heroin in Basile's pockets.

TICKETS WIRED ON

Niles (AP)—A new type of parking violation ticket has gone into effect here. The new tickets will be wired to door handles instead of placed under windshield wipers. The change was designed to eliminate excuses—often legitimate—that motorists failed to find the old tickets.

Hungarian Cardinal Given Life Sentence For Treason

CHURCH PRIMATE SENTENCED — Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and his young secretary, the Rev. Ondras Zakar (left), are shown in court in Budapest, Hungary, where the Cardinal today was sentenced to life imprisonment for treason and black market operations. The Rev.

Zakar was given a prison sentence of six years for trying to overthrow the government and treason. A guard (right) holds a can containing documents which the Communist prosecution claimed were dug up in the basement of the Cardinal's home.

Franco All Washed Up With Democrats

State Officials Rule Out Second Convention

Lansing, Feb. 8 (AP)—The two state officials whose word counts most—the Secretary of State and attorney general—said today, in effect, that John R. Franco needn't bother holding another Democratic state convention.

Franco, the deposed Democratic state chairman, has threatened to call a new convention in Grand Rapids Feb. 26 because he contends the party's convention in Grand Rapids last Saturday was illegal. Franco raised the possibility of two "Democratic" spring tickets.

Attorney General Stephen J. Roth, a Democrat, said he had not been asked for an opinion of the legality of last Saturday's convention, but that if he were he would rule: "the law permits only one state convention for each party. The Democratic spring convention was held last Saturday in Grand Rapids. There can be no other."

Secretary of State Fred Alger, jr., a Republican, whose official duty it is to arrange the spring ballot and assign party political designations to candidates, said that if Franco should attempt to put a rival Democratic ticket on the spring ballot he would ask for an attorney general's opinion.

"And I'll follow it to the letter," Alger said.

Vandenberg to Burn Democratic Ears In Lincoln Day Speech

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—A sharp new definition of the limits of the bipartisan foreign policy may come this week from Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.).

Vandenberg refused to talk about it, but GOP colleagues said they are confident that when the Michigan senator tees off with a Lincoln day address in Detroit Thursday night there will be some red ears among the Democrats.

These colleagues expect Vandenberg to say that so far as the bipartisan foreign policy has gone, it is good.

They think he will add that the administration has not gone far enough in taking the Republicans into its confidence on an around-the-world basis.

Heir To Banking Fortune Jailed For False Alarms

Beverly Hills, Calif., Feb. 8 (AP)—Edward Crumney, 51-year-old heir to a banking fortune, is in jail today charged with turning in six false fire alarms.

"I just love to see the hook and ladder go by," the retired Goshen, N. Y. banker told police.

Crumney was arrested yesterday at his home after the fire chief, an aerial truck, two engine companies, a hose truck and two police cars chased to the vicinity of his home on a false call.

Government Shuffle Approved By House

By BARNEY LIVINGSTONE

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—President Truman's request for broad power to reorganize the government rested with the Senate today, following overwhelming approval by the House.

The bill to give the president authority to reshuffle a sprawling array of executive agencies—subject to a veto by Congress—got its okay in the House last night by a thumping 356-9 margin.

Aside from the veto provision and another setting up special treatment for seven agencies, the bill would give Mr. Truman practically a free hand in streamlining the complex executive establishment, which in 20 years has grown from 350 to 1,800 agencies and from 570,000 to 2,100,000 employees.

The measure now goes to the Senate, where former President Herbert Hoover ran strong interference for it yesterday before the Senate executive expenditures committee.

Hoover is chairman of the commission created by the last Congress to reorganize for the whole executive branch.

In its first report yesterday, the commission recommended a vast re-arrangement of agencies—including a merger which would leave only some 20 offices where 65 now exist.

The commission described that report as a "skeleton," with details to come later. Hoover filled in some of the gaps. In testimony before the committee and later, speaking to a news conference, he said:

1. If all the proposals offered by the group are followed the taxpayer should realize a $3,000,000,000 saving from the resulting economies in government.
2. An additional cabinet-rank department probably will be recommended—a department of public welfare, to absorb the present federal security agency headed by Oscar Ewing.
3. The commission will not recommend abolition of the interior department, as reportedly recommended by one of its "task force."

Arguing against exempting any agencies from reorganization plans, Hoover blasted the "propagandizing" which he blamed for efforts to put some offices out of the president's reach.

He said such "pressure" in behalf of the Army's corps of engineers was responsible for the military establishment's inclusion among the seven agencies granted special treatment in the House bill.

Rail Unions Accused Of Feather-Bedding

Fact-Finding Boards Get Facts In Job Disputes

Chicago, Feb. 8 (AP)—Presidential fact-finding boards today resumed study of two disputes between the nation's railroads and more than a million workers who have voted strikes.

One board at a public meeting is hearing evidence on demands of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for a second engineer on Diesel-electric locomotives.

Some 25,000 engineers have voted a strike against 15 railroads, but naming of a presidential fact-finding board automatically delayed the walkout for 60 days.

The demand for an extra engineer on Diesel engines used in road, belt-line and transfer service also was served 45 other railroads but no strike vote was taken.

Howard Neitzert, chief counsel for the Carriers, told the board yesterday the union's demand is "indefensible featherbedding."

A second board is holding private meetings in the 10-month-old wage and hour dispute between the nation's Carriers and 16 non-operating rail unions, representing 1,000,000 workers. The board had recommended a pay boost of seven cents an hour and adoption of the 40-hour work week instead of the present 48, effective Sept. 1.

Dormant China War Flares Into Light Battle On Yangtze

By HAROLD K. MILKS

Nanking, Feb. 8 (AP)—China's dormant civil war flared into a light fight on the Yangtze today.

Government patrol boats attacked a flotilla of Communist supply craft west of Wuhu, which is about 40 miles west of Nanking. Several Red boats were sunk and 31 junks captured, along with a few Communist prisoners.

A naval spokesman denied the Communists were trying a crossing. The action, first of importance in a month, came as peace hopes wilted.

Chiang Kai-shek, the retired president, was reported by the authoritative Shanghai newspaper, Ta Kung Pao, to be getting ready to preside over an "important" Kuomintang (government) party meeting in Canton on March 29. This was taken by many to mean the long time Chinese leader might take over the reins of the faltering government from acting President Li Tsungjen.

The acting president, repeatedly repulsed by the Reds when he sought to get them around a peace table, was given slight chance of success.

Most sources said he might be able to surrender Shanghai and Nanking before the Reds take them but had little chance of making peace for the rest of China.

Premier Sun Fo's cabinet in Canton seemed determined to shake free of the Li government altogether.

Lansing Girl Found In Aitkin, Minnesota

Man She Ran Away With Killed In Airplane

Lansing, Feb. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Agnes Harte of Lansing today was on her way to Aitkin, Minn., to be reunited with her pretty daughter, Cary, 18, a Michigan State college co-ed who disappeared Nov. 4.

The girl's whereabouts became known when Standish McFarland, 23, with whom she ran away, was killed in a plane crash in the snowy wilderness north of Aitkin.

At Aitkin, the girl said she had not married McFarland. Her parents discovered after she disappeared that McFarland was already married and had a wife and four-year-old child in Reed City, Michigan.

Mrs. McFarland gave birth to a second child Dec. 7 after her husband's disappearance. She is staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Burton at Reed City.

McFarland was found in the wreckage of his plane Sunday with Lawrence Anson, 26, of Aitkin. They had been missing since Jan. 31 when they went on an aerial wolf hunt. McFarland was listed as the plane's owner.

The girl admitted her identity to newsmen and that she had not been married. She broke down and refused to answer further questions.

She was working in a restaurant at the Aitkin bus station and living in a hotel.

The girl's parents said at the time of her disappearance she had met McFarland at a Northern Michigan resort last summer.

Dairy Bar Owners Slugged And Shot By Fair Haven Thug

Fair Haven, Mich., Feb. 8 (AP)—A youthful bandit slugged a dairy bar proprietor and shot his wife last night in a vain attempt to hold them up.

The woman, Mrs. Lillian Boyd, 63, was reported in fair condition at St. Joseph's hospital in Mt. Clemens. She was shot in the stomach.

Her husband, Joseph, told police the youth, about 18 years old, entered the dairy bar when he, his wife and their daughter were inside.

"This is a stickup," Boyd quoted the man.

The bandit then struck Boyd on the head with his gun. As the dazed proprietor turned toward him, the youth fired a single shot and fled. The bullet struck Mrs. Boyd.

Gen. Chennault, 59, Is Father of Baby

The daughter, named Claire Anna, weighed seven and a half pounds. The mother is the former Anna Chan, Chinese newspaper woman.

Church Head Spared Death In Budapest

Prison Terms Imposed On 6 Co-defendants

By ANDRE MARTON

Budapest, Hungary, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Hungarian people's court today convicted Josef Cardinal Mindszenty of treason and sentenced him to life imprisonment.

The 56-year-old primate of this predominantly Catholic country also was found guilty of trying to overthrow the Communist government and of speculating in foreign currency. The court rejected Prosecutor Gyula Elapi's demand for a death sentence, but ordered the confiscation of the Cardinal's possessions.

Rich Duke Included

All six of the Cardinal's co-defendants were convicted, three of them on the treason charge. Their sentences ranged from three years to life.

The sentences and the charges on which the court convicted them:

Duke Paul Esterhazy, richest man in pre-war Hungary, 15 years; trying to overthrow the government and foreign exchange speculation.

The Rev. Ondras Zakar, the cardinal's young secretary, six years; trying to overthrow the government and treason.

The Rev. Miklos Nagy, secretary of the lay organization, Catholic action, three years; foreign money speculation and failing to inform the government of crimes.

The Rev. Bela Ispenky, Father Nagy's secretary, life imprisonment; treason and foreign currency speculation.

Prof. Justin Baranyay, professor of church law at Budapest University, 15 years; trying to overthrow the government.

Laszlo Toth, former editor of the Catholic paper Nemzeti, 10 years; treason.

The court ordered that all the co-defendants be deprived of their jobs, fortunes or political rights.

The sentences were handed down after a swift three-day trial by a five-man court composed of the professional jurist, Vilmos Olthys, and four associates drawn from a workers' panel.

May Ask Clemency

Of the defendants, only Father Zakar did not appeal. Cardinal Mindszenty spoke a loud, clear "yes" when asked if he wanted to appeal to carry the case to a higher court.

Prosecutor Gyula Elapi protested all but one sentence, that of Father Ispenky. He again demanded the death sentence for Cardinal Mindszenty.

The prosecutor's action made it possible for the appeals court to impose even more severe sentences, as well as to reverse the people's court or lighten the penalties.

United States Blamed

Judge Olthys said there were three extenuating circumstances in the Cardinal's case: He confessed and expressed regret; he lived far from worldly affairs; and the United States, through its minister here, Selden Chapin, "made him hope that the United States of America would start a war and this would help him attain his aims."

Body Of Leslie DeVet, 19, Big Bay Drowning Victim, Is Recovered

The body of Leslie DeVet jr., 19, son of a Fairport commercial fisherman, was recovered at noon today from the waters of Big Bay de Noc. The youth drowned yesterday morning when the jeep in which he was riding with his father and uncle broke through the ice into 40 feet of water about five miles east of Chippewa Point.

Sheriff and conservation officers and fishermen were in the group that recovered the body with grapnel. The jeep was raised first but, not finding the body, dragging was continued until the body was located.

The youth's body was recovered a short time before the arrival at the scene of a professional diver, Joe Beatty of Abrams, Wis. The diver was summoned by Leslie DeVet, sr., 44, father of the drowning victim, who almost lost his own life in the accident.

Went Down Quickly

Riding in the cab of the jeep at the time of the accident were DeVet and his son, and Myron (Mike) DeVet, 40, brother of Leslie senior. The DeVets are commercial fishermen of Fairport.

They were two miles south of Round Island and five miles east of the Chippewa Point mainland when the jeep suddenly settled through a crack in the ice, reported to be about 10 inches thick in the area surrounding the crack.

The jeep had been moving slowly as they struggled upward, but he did not know he was gone until they reached the surface.

Had Tested Ice

Leslie and his brother, Myron, got out on the ice and then walked three miles to the fish shanty of Herbert Pizzala. From there they were taken by car to Fairport by Harley Dalgard and Orval Farley. The ears of the two men were frozen in their long walk across the ice to the fish shanty.

Word of the tragedy reached authorities three hours later from Garden, the nearest telephone on the Garden Peninsula.

Sheriff's officers, state police, conservation officers and volunteers made an unsuccessful effort yesterday afternoon to raise the jeep from the bottom. They returned today with heavier equipment.

Was Only Child

The ice on Big Bay de Noc has shifted several times this winter, leaving cracks or windrows in many places. Earlier in the season three fishermen were saved but their trucks and equipment were lost when the ice moved out suddenly.

The DeVets have been fishing this winter in the vicinity of Round Island. The ice is thin in places, but the DeVets had been testing it about every 150 feet as they moved forward with the jeep. If the vehicle had been traveling faster it might not have gone through, officers said.

Fifty girls had objected to a new shower room accommodating 17, on the ground that it was "immodest."

School officials told the group that girls will not be required to take a shower after gymnasium workouts—although they will be encouraged to do so.

The officials said those who object to showering along with other girls may wait for privacy. The school also will issue towels before the girls undress so they won't have to walk in the nude

Bomb Blasts Home Of Traffic Referee In Detroit Court

Detroit, Feb. 8. (AP)—Detroit's judiciary worked with police today in attempting to solve the mysterious bombing last night of traffic referee Courtney Fitzsimons' home.

Fitzsimons and five members of his family escaped injury as the bomb tore a hole in the brick wall and blew out almost all the windows of the house.

Police said they believed the bomb was made of dynamite and was thrown from an alley.

The blast flung Fitzsimons from his bed on the second floor. His wife and the four children at home were unhurt.

A son, Charles, 22, is at Michigan State college.

Fitzsimons, a traffic court referee since 1939, could give no explanation for the bombing. He said he had received no threats.

Traffic Judge John D. Watts assisted in the investigation.

Windows in three neighboring homes were smashed by the blast. It cracked the brick walls of the Fitzsimons living room, ripped a hole into the basement wall, and tore down a small tree.

Rough Days Ahead For Labor Measure Asked By Truman

By MAX HALL

Washington, Feb. 8. (AP)—New signs of stormy weather for the administration labor bill were hung out today, with only three days left of the scheduled 10-day Senate hearings.

Things were pretty quiet yesterday and last night while Republicans on the labor committee leisurely questioned William H. Davis and the Democrats fidgeted impatiently.

But after listening to Davis, former chairman of the war labor board, the committee still had 30 witnesses on its schedule. The big question was how to fit into the remaining time the views that these 30 want to express on the Truman labor bill, which would knock out most of the Taft-Hartley act.

Vets Urged To Keep Dental and Medical VA Appointments

World War II veterans are urged to keep appointments for medical or dental care which have been authorized in their respective cases by the Veterans Administration.

H. A. Mosher manager of the U. P. veterans' office here, said veterans should make every effort to obtain prescribed examination or treatment within the time limit in their respective cases. Broken appointments frequently cause unnecessary delays in medical or dental care.

"Medical examinations must be given within the period specified on the authorization certificate," he said. "Treatments generally are prescribed on a month-to-month basis."

"Dental examinations must be given within 30 days of the date on the authorization certificate, while any subsequent treatments are scheduled by the dentist at his discretion, but within a reasonable period of time."

Under existing legislation, veterans may be furnished outpatient medical or dental care in VA clinics, in private offices of physicians or dentists or in their own homes only for disabilities recognized by VA as incurred or aggravated in line of duty in active service.

World War II veterans who believe they are eligible for medical or dental care at government expense may make application at any VA office, presenting a discharge certificate which is other than dishonorable.

Quarterly Dividend Of $1.25 Declared By General Motors

New York, Feb. 8. (AP)—Holders of General Motors common stock will receive a $1.25 dividend this quarter, 50 cents more than the dividends which have been paid for the past five years.

The $1.25 dividend was declared yesterday, payable March 10 to stockholders of record Feb. 17.

The higher payment reflected the company's record earnings, which totaled $327,155,222 for the first nine months of 1948. This compared with $213,217,476 for the like period of 1947.

The annual report for 1948 has not yet been made but earnings for the whole year are expected to be well over $400,000,000.

The board of directors also declared the regular dividend of $1.25 on the company's $5 preferred stock series and the regular dividend of .93 three-fourth cents on the $3.75 series.

Both the preferred dividends are payable May 2 to holders of April 11.

World War II veterans who believe they are eligible for medical or dental care at government expense may make application at any VA office, presenting a discharge certificate which is other than dishonorable.

Lt. Thomas L. Powers
Reburial Rites Friday

The body of Lt. Thomas L. Powers, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Powers, 112 First avenue south, returned from the United States military cemetery at St. Avold, France, for reburial will be brought to Escanaba Thursday morning and will be taken to the Allo funeral home where it will be in state beginning Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Services will be held at St. Joseph's church Friday morning at 9 with Rev. Fr. Patrick, O. F. M., officiating. Burial will be in Gardens of Rest cemetery. Military rites will be conducted by the veterans' organizations.

Lt. Powers, a fighter pilot, was killed March 11, 1945, on a dive bombing mission over western Germany. After pulling away from the target he was hit by enemy gunfire and was shot down. He was buried by a German priest in the cemetery of a little town nearby and three weeks later when the area was taken by the United States forces his body was removed to St. Avold where the funeral mass was offered in the field chapel.

Lt. Powers was born June 18, 1923 and lived in Escanaba all his life except for the period in which he attended Michigan State college and two years of military service. He was graduated from Escanaba high school in 1941 and was a second year student at Michigan State college when he enlisted in the Army Air Forces in February, 1943.

Based in France He was commissioned a second lieutenant at Moultrie, Ga., in May, 1944 and after receiving his wings he was given advanced training at Windsor Locks, Conn., and Norfolk, Va., before going overseas in December, 1944. He was stationed in England for several weeks before being transferred in January to the Ninth Air Force, based in France. He was pilot of a P-47 Thunderbolt fighter-bomber and had completed a number of missions in France and Germany.

He is survived by his widow, the former Jeslyn Jackson, now Mrs. E. A. McLeary of Kansas City, Mo., and his parents.

Chase Osborn Takes
Hand In Arguments
On Race Relations

Albany, Ga., (AP)—Former Michigan Governor Chase S. Osborn, recovering from a serious illness, has entered a word battle over race relations.

The long-time winter resident of Georgia said "impatient dreamers and subversive schemers" were aggravating the Negro problem. He attacked statements by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and its spokesman, Walter White.

Osborn was particularly irritated by a statement White made in New York Friday. White said that Dr. J. W. Holley, Negro author of a book on race relations, was "without standing among Negroes and intelligent whites" of Georgia.

The 89-year-old former Governor defended Holley's "realistic attitude toward race relations in the South."

"He is for progress, however slow, in preference to bloodshed," Osborn said.

Demand For Copper
Stays At High Level

Washington, (AP)—Copper consumption is likely to remain at high levels "for some time," the Bureau of Mines says.

"Ever since the end of the period of work stoppages in mid-1946 domestic production has been at virtual capacity levels, close to 875,000 tons a year," the Bureau said in a preliminary report on 1948 production.

It listed these reasons for the favorable outlook:

The government's determination to continue stockpiling provides an assured market.

Annual prices are at 30-year peaks.

Labor supply has become adequate in most areas.

More Time Needed To Submit Budget

IN THE BUDGET MESSAGE of Governor Williams to the state legislature, Mr. Williams pointed out that present state law requires the governor to submit the state budget to the legislature convenes in regular session. This means then that the governor must have his budget prepared and ready for submission only a few days after he has taken the oath of office.

The law does provide a handicap to an incoming governor because the information that he needs to properly prepare a budget message must necessarily come from the officials of the previous administration. Governor Williams pointed out that in his budget message and disavowed full personal responsibility for the budget proposal because of the prevailing circumstances. He did request the legislature to amend the law so that in the future the governor's budget message will not have to be submitted before March 1.

The suggested change seems to be a sensible one. An incoming governor should be entitled to two months to organize his departments and to gather essential facts that would enable him to prepare a budget based upon personal understanding of the state's financial problems.

Governor Williams disavows full personal responsibility for the budget message that he submitted to the legislature. And yet under the law he cannot really disavow responsibility.

The proposed change in the deadline for filing the budget message in future years should be adopted by the legislature in fairness to the successors of Governor Williams.

Another Successful Ice Revue

ESCANABA'S 11th annual ice revue, presented to capacity audiences last week, anchored another stake in the city's claim of outstanding leadership in the field of amateur figure skating.

The 1949 revue, like its predecessors, featured a number of up and coming youngsters who are gaining unusual skill in the science of figure skating. In addition to these talented youngsters, the show presented many more boys and girls who are just completing their first lessons in figure skating but who some day will play leading roles in the annual ice revue.

For a time it appeared that the 1949 revue would not be held. The Escanaba Figure Skating club, which sponsored the annual revue in past seasons, dropped out of the picture this year, temporarily we hope, and the city recreation department stepped in to keep the revue alive. Many of the people who helped out in past years stepped in again to give their services.

The recreation department undoubtedly will desire that the figure skating club resume its role as sponsor of the revue in succeeding years because a production of this kind is not fundamentally the function of a municipal recreation department.

Timetable For Congress

THE end of an average session of the United States Congress finds the members working like so many dillatory students around final examination time. They do a lot of cramming to cover work that should have been done months before. And while they may get finished, their efforts at best are often ill-considered.

For example, the last-minute haste of the 8th Congress may have helped to defeat the Republicans in the elections. In voting an 11th-hour appropriation for the Commodity Credit Corporation, the GOP-controlled Congress failed to vote the CCC funds for additional storage for farm products.

The farmers meanwhile had harvested bumper crops of grain. But this surplus harvest had to be stored in government-approved space in order to make it eligible for support prices. Congress didn't supply the space. The farmers stood to lose money, and the Democrats capitalized on this fact. That may be the big reason why the GOP lost that "safe" rural vote in Ohio, Illinois and Iowa. Without those states' 63 electoral votes Mr. Truman would not have had the required number to give him an undisputed victory.

Sen. Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, being a Democrat, probably is happy about the above incident. But he also knows that the embarrassing results of hasty legislation can work both ways. And he realizes that haste can be bad for the whole country. So, in the interest of safety and efficiency, he has proposed a mild remedy.

He would put major legislation on a timetable basis. The majority leaders of both houses, the committee chairmen and ranking minority members of committees would meet early in each session and schedule legislation. This schedule would be reviewed each 30 days and, if necessary, revised. There would be "goal" dates for committee hearings, for full consideration of bills and for a vote on them.

The Myers proposal would include all appropriation bills as well as other legislation. And it would strive to eliminate the evil of attaching irrelevant legislative riders to appropriations in the final rush.

The idea might work some improvement. The legislative schedule, if adopted, should receive wide publicity. It could then become part of the Congress' record, and contribute a clearer history of various pieces of legislation. With the plan working even moderately well, the public would have a better idea of which members of Congress were dragging their feet, and why.

Electoral College Is Poor Democracy

PRESIDENT TRUMAN may favor keeping the Electoral College, but there is a noticeable sentiment among the voters for locking up the old institution and throwing the key away. The reason for this, of course, is the closeness of the 1948 presidential race which, because of our electoral system, almost wound up in the House of Representatives.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts has introduced a bill on the subject that would abolish the electors but not the electoral votes. His proposed amendment to the Constitution would divide a state's electoral votes between the candidates in proportion to their popular vote.

Under this system Governor Dewey would not have received 47 electoral votes for carrying New York, but 21.8, against 21.3 for President Truman and 3.9 for Mr. Wallace. In Ohio, Mr. Truman would not have won 25 electoral votes, but 12.525 against Mr. Dewey's 12.475.

The idea of retaining the electoral tabulating system as a concession to the smaller states has had considerable support from the nation's press. It has remained for the New Bedford (Mass.) Standard-Times to raise a practical rather than theoretical question as to a possible weakness in this system.

It is the Standard-Times' contention that Senator Lodge's amendment would virtually prevent the election of a Republican president in the foreseeable future. The reasoning is this: Eleven Southern states, which normally are solidly Democratic, cast about 10 per cent of the popular vote in an average presidential election. Yet they control approximately 24 per cent of the electoral vote. Further, the average of electoral to popular votes in those states is about 40,000 to 1, as against 110,000 to 1 in the others.

The result, says the New Bedford paper, is that any Republican candidate would be starting out under a considerable handicap. He would stand to lose large blocks of votes in Northern states carried by his party while making negligible gains in the Solid South.

The Standard-Times states that Senator Lodge's answer to these objections is that his amendment would break down the South's one-party system and thus do away with the present practice of having a very light vote on election day.

If that, in substance, is the senator's reasoning, it might seem overly hopeful. Abolishing the present electoral system might give a Southern Republican the assurance that his vote would not be thrown away. But it would scarcely abolish the state laws and restrictions that help to make light election-day votes.

The past year would have been a logical time for the Solid South to break up. The Republicans, encouraged by the Dixiecrat revolt, campaigned seriously in the South. A number of Southern papers supported Governor Dewey. But when the votes were in, the Solid South was still solidly Democratic, though not solidly for Mr. Truman. If the Dixiecrats, with the resentment that their movement aroused, could not open a wedge for the GOP below the Mason-Dixon Line, it is doubtful that Senator Lodge's amendment could.

The Standard-Times' objection to the amendment may or may not be partisan. But anyone, regardless of party, who believes that our democratic government requires a two-party system must hope that Congress will thoroughly explore all proposed electoral changes for any features that might threaten the strength of that system.

GREEN BAY LOSES 400 JOBS

(Green Bay Press-Gazette)

The loss by Green Bay to Chicago, of Kraft's processing plant here is a nasty jolt.

So far as we can discover, the change was made for "efficiency reasons." Such an expression may cover a wide territory. It could include even the absurd basing point decision of the federal supreme court although there is no direct evidence that it does. Still, here we have a problem that affects directly the lives of about 150 people and it is no different from the problem other communities have faced when they found their industries trying to get into the great centers of population because of the unbelievable decision of a majority of the supreme court respecting the prices that must be charged as the distance from the point of supply increases.

Peace Needed For Freedom

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—There is something comic about the reaction in this country to the answers that Marshal Stalin sent to a newspaperman's inquiries about whether Russia wants peace. Even behind the grim, closely guarded walls of the Kremlin in Moscow it must cause some laughter.

The headlines, the speculation, the statements and the denials go on and on, and all over an old routine repeated several times in the past. At least twice before Stalin has given almost identical answers to similar questions.

The soft answers previously given have not brought any change in the harsh conduct of the cold war against the West carried out under Stalin's direction. All this seems to be forgotten in the current furor.

STALIN USES HEARST

In my opinion the press, or a section of it, has a great deal to answer for in this connection. Consider the irony of it.

The questions were submitted to Stalin by Kingsbury Smith, general manager in Europe of the International News Service. That means he is the chief representative in Europe of William Randolph Hearst. Thus, it is thanks in the first instance to the Hearst press that Stalin's propaganda is given circulation throughout the world.

At the same time the Hearst press, along with the McCormick-Patterson newspapers and other allies, is pouncing on the new secretary of state, Dean Acheson, for the slightest suspicion of "appeasement" of Europe. And if nothing suspicious can be found, it is not beyond some to invent suspicions.

That happened the other day when a garbled and distorted account of remarks not by Secretary Acheson but by his brother, Prof. Edward Acheson, were made public. Professor Acheson, who has a distinguished reputation in his own right as an authority on international finance, was talking at a private, off-the-record meeting of his college alumni.

When he said the distorted version of what he said, Professor Acheson issued a denial. But this did not prevent Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire from getting up in the Senate to say that if Edward Acheson said such things, then they must in some manner reflect the thinking of Dean Acheson. Quite apart from the obvious unfairness of such an insinuation, the irresponsibility of the performance speaks for itself.

PROPER CHANNELS AVAILABLE

The same press that starts the rabbit of the Russian peace propaganda immediately sets the dogs onto anyone who proposes to consider its merits. The mere suggestion that Stalin's answers might be more than propaganda is enough to bring down the awful denunciation of appeaser.

At his press conference Secretary Acheson analyzed Stalin's replies and reduced them to property proportions. There are, as Mr. Acheson pointed out, legitimate channels to explore the possibilities of peace and end the frictions of the cold war. Too often ignored in the past, the instrument for peace, above all others, is the United Nations.

The time may come, and it may be closer than we think, when Moscow puts out a real peace feeler. This could come in a half dozen different ways, such as a serious proposal to send the impasse in Berlin.

When that happens, Secretary Acheson should be free to go as far as he deems necessary to work out a practical agreement for peace. Those who know believe that such an agreement is possible. The secretary of state should not have to be concerned with dark suspicions of appeasement in anything that has to do with Soviet relations.

We have a right to demand of those who raise the shrill cry of appeasement at every opportunity what they are seeking. If it is war with the Soviet Union, then let them say so. They give every indication of believing that war is the only choice.

This is a strange phenomenon. For these same shrill voices profess to come from the true defenders of a free enterprise society. Yet anyone who looks at reality must realize that a third World War would end all our freedoms and reduce us to total regimentation.

The only hope for freedom is the hope of preserving a peace, however uneasy in the next few years in the expectation that present tensions will subside. The fanatics and the hysterics who denounce every effort to come to practical terms with Russia seem deliberately to wish the end of our world. There is a tragic sickness which must not be allowed to infect American policy.

possible for a person or thing to be in two or more places at the same time. Therefore it is correct to say: His whereabouts is unknown.

St. Louis: We're undecided about the correctness of this sentence: "After having written the letter, I decided not to mail it." My boss thinks it is all right. I think it's wrong. What is your opinion?—E. M.

Answer: "After having" is redundant. Use one or the other, thus: Having written the letter. . . or: After writing the letter. . .

Newark: What do you think of this sentence as dictated by my employer: "We've got to get along with what we've got?"—J. P.

Answer: "It certainly overworks the verb 'get.' Better: We must get along with what we have. Also: We must do with what we have. Also: We must make the best of what we have.

Kansas City: I maintain that it is correct to place the period after the last quotation mark, thus: He said, "I am not interested." That's the way I was taught in business school.—M. A. D.

Answer: Sorry, it is not good usage. The rule that is observed by all good publications is: Commas and periods should always precede the quotation work, thus: He said, "I am not interested," and quickly added, "But I may change my mind."

HANDY CANDY—Frank Barron, Flat Rock farmer, has more enthusiasm than a Chamber of Commerce booster and more ideas than the patent office. With that combination you can expect he is a helpful man to have in the community.

And he is. Witness his latest enthusiastic idea—the making of maple sugar candy which he gave for sale to aid the March of Dimes. Unofficial estimates place the amount the candy sale will bring to the Delta county fight polio fund at above $100.

Dunathan

The candy is auctioned off at service club meetings for the benefit of the polio fund. Auctions were held at the Escanaba Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions club meetings, and at the Lions club meeting at Powers.

THIRTY POUNDS — Each spring the Frank Barrons tap the maple trees on their farm, collect the sap, and boil it down into maple syrup. Sometimes they make maple candy. We recall that a year or so ago during maple syrup time Frank invited school students out to see how it is done—and the boys and girls enjoyed it very much. Especially the part where the thick syrup is poured over snow to make a delicious chewy candy.

Taking some of his store of maple syrup from last year, Frank made a total of 30 pounds of candy to be auctioned off for the March of Dimes fund. This may sound like a small task, but it wasn't, and Frank told us why.

TRICKY BUSINESS—Making maple candy is as risky a business as playing the slot machines, says Frank. Sometimes you win and sometimes you don't.

To take the syrup and go over to a building on the old Ford farm to make the candy," Frank explained. "I would turn on the radio and listen while I boiled the stuff down. Every so often I test the syrup to see if it would get hard—but it was a guessing game. A couple of times I took the stuff off the fire a couple seconds too soon, added the walnut meats and coconut, and then found the candy wouldn't harden. You can't cook it again after that stuff is in, so I had to throw it away."

We could have told Frank about some of our experiences in candy making. At least we call it candy. Sometimes it has all of the qualities of a good grade of concrete, and at other times you have to eat it with a spoon.

AMERICA—Maple syrup and maple sugar candy are strictly American products. They were discovered by the American Indian, who gave the art to the white settlers.

The Indians have several fables concerning the discovery of maple syrup. The Chippewas have the following story:

In one Indian village in Northern Michigan lived a very fierce warrior who had married several times. None of his wives pleased him and he had the habit of tapping their skulls with his war club to show his displeasure. This brings us down to wife No. 5, a timid young thing, and the heroine of our story.

Mindenava was scarcely more than a child when the duties of a wife were thrust upon her. It was in the springtime when her ill-tempered husband went hunting and told Mindenava to have his supper ready when he returned. The young wife put a haunch of venison in the pot, dreamily poured over it some water from a birch bark pail, and wandered off to gossip with her sisters. Returning in late afternoon she found the roast covered with a sticky brown liquid and believing it was burned she was preparing to cook something else when she heard her husband approaching.

Fearfully she ran into the woods to hide from his wrath. When there was no angry outcry she ventured back to discover her husband gorging himself on the meat—and lapping up the thick maple syrup. What she had thought to be water was maple sap that had dripped into the pail from a broken maple branch. Her husband was her slave, for only she knew the secret of the delicious food—and so they lived happily ever after.

That, dear reader, is the way the story goes. Mindenava taught her sisters how to make maple syrup and candy and today it is still rated one of the rarest delicacies.

BIG BUSINESS—Frank Barron's gift of maple candy for the benefit of the Delta county March of Dimes is well received, both by those who purchase the candy and the crippled kids who are helped by the funds so raised.

The making of maple syrup and candy is now big business in this country. Thousands of gallons of flavorful syrup and thousands of pounds of maple candy are consumed annually. Frank was offering a confection distinctively American in behalf of a cause that also has its roots close to the American heart.

Roving Reporter

By Hal Boyle

New York, (AP)—Science has got around to finding out that women live longer than men. Now it wants to know why.

Well, the Bunson Burner Brigade can quit annoying laboratory mice looking for the answer to that one. I can tell them.

The average woman outlives the average man because she wants to—and he wants her to. That's all there is to it.

It's a simple matter of pride, civilization and erosion.

Some scientists have held man's shorter life span is due to the fact he lives more dangerously. Dr. James B. Hamilton of Long Island University blames it, on the other hand, to the male sex hormone. He says this raises the metabolic rate and causes men to burn up their food and oxygen at a faster rate than women.

But it seems to the poor man's philosopher that both those scientific theories overlook the fundamental factor—the human one, the desire of both sexes that the female last longer.

All modern civilization is built on that theme.

It starts with the idea that women are made of a finer stuff than men. And this begins in earliest childhood. What are little girls made of? Sugar and spice and everything nice. And what are little boys made of? Rats and snails and puppy dog tails. Ugh!

The small lad fights this idea at the kindergarten level. He despondently accepts it as a fact that he is made of baser, cruder metal.

It isn't by any means an unhappy slavery. It gives him the sense of security that a professional soldier gets—he has a job to do, a definite role in life to fill.

So the man goes to work, marries and sets up his idol in an ivory tower—usually a kitchenette. Without that responsibility man, by nature a nose-picking vagabond, would just wander around in the woods and yawn himself to death from boredom.

But with that responsibility he lasts longer. He works or worries himself to death over a longer period.

The slow erosion that destroys him ultimately isn't caused alone by the wear and tear of his daily treadmill. Chivalry and etiquette play a small but steady part.

His subservience to one woman requires that he also go through the motions of being obsequious to all women. A private doesn't salute one officer: He salutes all officers. Thus the imprisoned male fritters away his dwindling store of muscular energy.

Each of those polite gestures takes an infinitesimal fraction of a second from his existence. One is nothing; ten thousands small gestures tap his structure.

Because he takes pride in serving his idol, the average man races his motor all his life to earn money to keep her in furs, food and flattery. And he enjoys it, too.

And now we come to the final reason why men die younger than women—pride. All his married days the husband has told his wife, "dear, I couldn't live without you. Life wouldn't be worth a thing."

When he grows older, he has to face the fact he has to depart from the scene first or admit to himself he's nothing but a darned liar. So—off he goes.

The proof of all I have been saying is that bachelors don't live as long as married men. Why? Because they have refused to accept the halter of civilized womanhood. And this knowledge torments them. It's a bad conscience that kills off bachelors.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—In a private, dramatic session with the Senate armed services committee, state department officials revealed that the chief goal of American foreign policy is to push the iron curtain back to the Russian borders. By economic and political pressure, the United States hopes to pull the Soviet satellites out of the Communist orbit.

Pearson

Attending the hush-hush military briefing were George Kennan, the state department's Russian expert, Maj. Gen. Alfred Gruenther, secretary to the joint chiefs of staff, Secretary of Defense Forrestal, General Eisenhower and Secretary of Air Symington.

General Gruenther, who planned much of the U. S. army's strategy in Italy, compared the size of Russian and American forces in Western Germany, and outlined American battle plans in case of attack. The details he gave cannot be printed, but it is no secret that Russia holds an overwhelming edge in manpower. Gruenther, though a ground general, remarked significantly that America's hope lay in her air power.

Speaking for the state department, Kennan interpreted Stalin's offer to talk peace with Truman as a sign of weakness. The Kremlin had to appear to seek peace abroad, Kennan explained, in order to keep peace at home. He pointed out that all is not rosy in Russia—that steel production is low, that transportation is inadequate and that Red army deserters are giving trouble.

The state department is convinced, Kennan declared, that Stalin's peace gesture cannot be trusted. His offer to meet Truman was part of a "peace offensive," calculated to influence world opinion, to put the west at ease and to gain a breathing spell.

NO WAR EXPECTED

Russia is better equipped for barking than biting, just now, Kennan said, so the experts don't expect war—unless it is precipitated accidentally. He warned, however, that Americans may as well make up their minds to a long siege of the cold war—a constant battle of nerves with a power that can't be trusted.

Meanwhile, Kennan reported, democracy is gaining ground against Communism in Western Europe. The Marshall Plan is feeding new life into the battered European economy, and the proposed Atlantic pact is giving new confidence to the struggling European democracies. The state department was heartened by Norway's move to join the alliance, though Sweden has managed to keep out of two world wars by walking the fence, and is relying upon strict neutrality to keep her out of the cold war too.

Eisenhower had nothing to say at the meeting. At lunch later, he remarked that he was not worried about war with Russia. Nevertheless America cannot afford to be unprepared again as at Pearl Harbor. For powder keeps, said Ike, have a habit of going off accidentally.

Note—Chairman Tydings wouldn't disclose at the meeting what the armed services committee was likely to do this year—except he thought the unification law ought to be revised before the services got into bad habits under the present system. He also promised to take up early the question of extending selective service, so that the Pentagon would know how many men it could count on.

JONES' OLD STAMPING-GROUND

It looks as if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation could stand a long-overdue investigation by Congress. If the Democrats are smart, they'll start one before someone else beats them to it.

For years the all-powerful Jesse Jones kept Congress out of his hair, even had his account books exempt from inspection by thorough-going Comptroller General Lindsay Warren. Jesse had too many congressmen under obligation to him through loans to constituents.

But now even a little surface scratching shows that the boys at the top don't entirely know what the RFC is doing.

Take, for instance, the fees collected by ex-Congressman Frank Hancock in connection with loans to North Carolina firms, which pass through the hands of Ernest Howard, chief of the RFC business loans division and Hancock's brother-in-law.

When this column queried RFC Director Harvey Gunderson about the matter, he expressed surprise and ignorance. Gunderson, who gives the appearance of wanting to do right, said he had complete confidence in Ernest Howard and was certain he was not being used by his brother-in-law to push loans through the RFC.

After considerable hesitation, however, Gunderson consented to send for the North Carolina loans of $100,000 or over and see whether Hancock was the attorney for the loan to the Strickland Furniture Co., of High Point, N. C. It was for lobbying on this loan that Hancock received a lush fee, after Strickland hitherto had been unable to get the loan past Hancock's brother-in-law.

HANCOCK'S CAMPAIGN MANAGER

Pushing a buzzer, the RFC director called William Devin and asked him to dig up the North Carolina loans. When Devin brought them back, Hancock's name was not listed as attorney for the Strickland Furniture Co.

"Did you know," Gunderson was asked later, "that Devin, the man you asked to dig up the information on Hancock, was formerly Hancock's campaign manager?"

'AXIS SALLIES' DID NO HARM

Propaganda Broadcasts Entertained Boys

By ROBERT C. RUARK

New York—Undoubtedly Axis Sally has pretty legs, for a lady of upper middle years, but they seem inadmissible evidence in what she's being tried for, which is wilful treason by an American citizen in time of war.

Sally, otherwise Mildred Gillars, is being worked over in Washington's federal court, on charges she treasonably aided the Germans by making propaganda broadcasts designed to poison the mind of the American GI against the war he was fighting. Her design was ostensibly snipped from the same Axis pattern of morale busting that produced Lord Haw-Haw and the Tokyo Roses.

It will be admitted, I believe, by the average soldier who was exposed to the Haw-Haws, Roses and Sallys, that the net effect of their programs was minus nil. But that has nothing to do with the point of the trial.

Haw-Haw Was Hanged

The British strung up Haw-Haw for a sin no greater than the one with which Miss Gillars is charged. If it can be shown that the well-constructed Miss Gillars is guilty, in the Haw-Haw manner, she rates a noose or a hot seat or a gas-pill or whatever the maximum penalty for broad treason the court is empowered to decree.

That is, of course, if it can be shown she was working for the Germans without constant threat of death or torture. A reasonable proof of either intimidation should get her partly off the hook, since no human is responsible beyond a certain stage of coercion. That seems to be the crucial dot of guilt determination. To date I have seen no evidence that the Nazis jammed a Luger into her sacroiliac as she talked into the mike.

Miss Gillars' gentler sex, which is generally introduced to plead amelioration in trials of this sort, is much in point, however.

If guilty she be of treason, then the exploitation of her femininity as a propaganda weapon actually enriches the crime. The baiting of mud-smeared troops by a velvet-voiced American woman—the taunting suggestion of unfaithful wives and sweethearts at home, in a silky homeside tone—was conceived as the ultimate in psy-chologic assault. The sexy female voice was as much or more vital to the aim than the text, no matter who wrote it.

Just Entertained Boys

What nobody on the German-Japanese-Italian side of the fence ever appreciated, though, was the broad American indifference to anything heard on the air. A generation weaned on the soap opera, Orson Welles, the singing commercial and the assorted fantasies of daily drama and contrived comic, regarded radio as little more than a mish-mash of conflicting viewpoint and inspired fiction. We had teed off on the voices of doom, the second-guessers, the pontificators, and they were all mixed up with John's other wife, Kaltenborn, Winchell, Crosby, Hope, Amos 'n Andy, and Jimmy Fidler. They were amusement, never stern doctrine.

I had the fine fortune to listen endlessly to both Haw-Haw and Tokyo Rose. My innocent gunners busted a gusset laughing at Haw-Haw, especially when he reported us sunk every evening. In the Pacific, we so loved Tokyo Rose as a comedy program that we started one drive to have a batch of new recordings chuted on Tokyo. Her record of "Stardust" was getting might scratchy. But she was powerful good company in the sterile places where we lacked the sound of any woman's voice.

From a standpoint of actual morale-building, Rose, Sally, and the late Haw-Haw deserved an allied medal as much, say, as Mickey Rooney, who got a bronze star for entertaining the troops. They were as good as a USO show. But unfortunately their Axis employers didn't know that—and unfortunately, neither did the traitorous disc jockeys. In concept of evil, they are guilty of treason as any spy, or deserter. For baleful purpose they rate the top punishment, and I would not like to see Miss Gillars' gams let her off lightly. War has passed over all chivalry and ignored all sexes, and if she's proven guilty she demands as high a gallows as Haw-Haw. Her failure in the business of treason has nothing to do with the original talent.

Strike Intent Notice Surprises Commission

The notice of Local B979 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers to the state labor mediation board of an intent to strike against the city of Escanaba came as a distinct surprise to the city civil service commission, George Ruwitch, commission chairman, declared this morning.

He reported that negotiations with the city electrical employees over a wage grievance apparently had been progressing satisfactorily and in conformity with an agreement made at civil service commission meetings last Dec. 30 and January 8.

The electrical workers at those meetings had agreed to assist the civil service commission in a wage study and this study was in progress at the time the strike notice was served.

Last Dec. 27 the union notified Mayor Robert LeMire of electrical workers' intent to strike because of inadequate wages and because the city civil service commission had declined to make a recommendation for a signed agreement with the union.

The notice was signed by Gus H. McFadden, union secretary.

At the meeting of the civil service commission on Dec. 30, James Anderson, union president, expressed the belief that difficulties could be ironed out on the local level, without the necessity of carrying the dispute to the state mediation board.

It also was decided at that meeting to conduct a wage survey to determine pay scales in effect in other municipalities and also to determine wage scales paid in private industry for electrical work.

Electrical workers were given the opportunity to make suggestions concerning the form to be used for the purpose of the survey and also to determine what cities would be contacted.

On January 8, the civil service commission met again with the electrical workers and further discussions concerning the wage survey were held at that time.

Nothing further was heard from the union or the electrical workers until the strike notice was received, the civil service commission reported.

The commission said that the wage study is being made to determine what adjustments, if any, are required for city electricians in the next fiscal year, beginning July 1.

An opinion submitted by City Attorney Denis McGinn indicates that a strike by municipal employees is illegal and that such employees may be regarded as having quit their jobs. If reinstated, they may forfeit their employment rights, such as seniority, pension, etc.

The next step in the labor dispute apparently is up to the state labor mediation board, to whom the city electricians have submitted their grievances.

Eleven city electricians are affected in the labor dispute, city officials reported.

Experts Blame Air Mass Collision For Unusual Weather This Winter

WINTER GOES OFF THE TRACK: Here's how abnormal cold air flows from Canada and the Arctic clashed with moist air masses from the Gulf of Mexico. The worst blizzards occurred when the cold and moist air masses met (snow area, above), and coldest temperature extremes developed in the dotted sectors of the west. If winter had been on its regular track, it would have followed normal weather pattern for U.S. (smaller map at left), in which highs and lows travel eastward.

By EDWARD L. A. WAGNER
Written for NEA Service

New York, (NEA)—A couple of high pressure areas, each desperately anxious to get somewhere else in a hurry, collided head-on right after Thanksgiving.

They were very stubborn high pressure areas with single track minds. One wanted to get as far as possible from the freezing Arctic. The other had had its fill of sub-tropical heat, and was headed for skiing country.

Neither would give way. So they stood around and slugged it out. And that, say the nation's top weather experts, is why California and the Midwest and the Rockies have been afflicted with one of the worst winters in history—while the usually raw Northeast has basked in almost October comfort.

The weather men got together at a session of the American Meteorological Society and talked over the situation. They were as intrigued as laymen by the spectacle of deep snow in the Rose Bowl, terrific blizzards coming one after another in the cattle and sheep country, while the Atlantic Seaboard from Florida to Newfoundland enjoy record warmth.

Editor's Note: In the Western plains, it was the worst winter in history. In Southern California, snow blanketed even the Chambers of Commerce. In the East, fuel dealers were worrying about price cuts instead of shortages. What happened to the U. S. weather? Here's how the meteorological experts see it, as told by Edward L. A. Wagner, editor of the Acme "Forecast" weather map and a former Army weather expert.

There were Dr. F. W. Reichelderfer, chief of the Weather Bureau; and General Donald Yates, chief of the Air Force weather service; and Capt. Howard Orville, Chief of Aerology for the Navy, and weather chiefs for the major airlines; and Ivan Tannehill and Jerome Namias, top forecast men for the Weather Bureau, among others.

When they got through swapping facts and ideas, they found themselves in agreement on what is happening.

A continuous stream of very cold air started southward from western Canada and kept coming, wave after wave. A stream of nice warm air started northward from the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico, and kept coming.

When they met, they set up heavy snow storms and blizzards that covered California orange groves with a six-inch mantle, blocked railroads and highways and stranded millions of cattle and sheep on the Great Plains.

The warm high pressure area hung around over the East Coast, giving it a mild winter. The cold high pressure area sloped over the mountains, which usually protect Southern California from such unpleasant phenomena.

Namias, who heads the Weather Bureau's Extended Forecast division, says the experts believe that cold-and-blizzard winters are moving in a westward pattern. Thus, next winter the East can expect more normal conditions, but Pacific areas, perhaps as far west as China, may get a rugged time.

Namias points out that two winters ago it was the British Isles that suffered extreme cold and heavy snow. Last winter the East Coast had a bad time, starting with the day-after-Christmas storm that all but paralyzed New York City. This year it is the Middle and Far Western United States, China, and Siberia, would seem to be next in line.

The experts agreed that there is no indication that the world, as a whole, is getting either warmer or colder. They see no reason to worry about the Polar ice cap melting and flooding seacoast areas of the continents.

Neither do they accept the popular idea that atomic bombs, or

SHIPPING IRON ORE IN WINTER

125 Carloads Will Go To Alabama

Ironwood, Mich.—The first iron ore shipments from the Ironwood district of the Oliver Iron Mining company for the 1949 season will begin Wednesday, February 9 when a trainload of 125 cars will start for Birmingham, Alabama, a company official announced.

This announcement sets a precedence for mining operations on the range in view of the fact that the cars going south will be loaded both by steam shovel from stockpiles and from shaft operations.

This is the first time that winter loading into cars by steam shovel will take place.

According to the mining company announcement, this ore from the Geneva mine will be used to supplement other ores used in the Birmingham district.

Shipments will be made in standard 50-ton ore cars and will continue until about the opening of the navigation season this spring on the Great Lakes.

Although this is the first time on the range that ore will have been loaded into cars from stockpiles, it is not the first time that ore has been shipped by rail from the range to points south.

During World War I ore was shipped to Mayville, Wis., and another time some was shipped to points in Illinois. These shipments were made by rail during the winter.

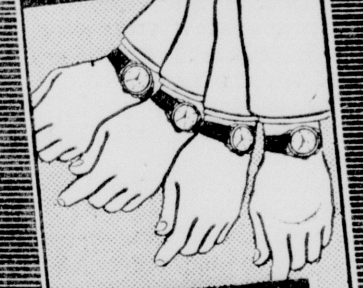

Although no official estimate on the amount of tonnage to be shipped to Alabama was given by the mining company announcement, unofficial estimates believe the total tonnage consigned to Birmingham will amount to from 200,000 to a quarter-million tons.

One of the earliest forms of naval attack was ramming of one boat by another and navy ships up to 1911 were built with bows designed to withstand ramming impacts.

Ore Reserves In U. P. Ample, Says Stakel

Ishpeming—Because there are abundant reserves of both high and low grade iron ore in the Lake Superior district, there not only is no threat of extinction of merchantable ore in the near future, but there is every reason for the prevailing spirit of optimism in iron mining circles, it was stated here by Charles J. Stakel, general manager of Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., mines, who spoke at the dinner meeting sponsored by the Ishpeming Chamber of Commerce in the Mather Inn.

Although he did not say so in so many words, Stakel intimated that mine operators on the Marquette range look to the future with an almost unprecedented feeling of optimism, largely because known reserves of high grade ore on this range, as well as its reserves of merchantable and lean ores, place it in an excellent position for continued production.

World Crying For Steel

Mr. Stakel spoke as follows: Naturally the future of any town or city is dependent on its location of a market for its products, transportation facilities, climate, power, and ample supply of labor, and last but not least, the energy and resourcefulness of its inhabitants. We who represent industry and business also are an integral part of the community. (We must labor to produce, keep abreast of changing conditions, be resourceful. But primarily we must work. Labor also must cooperate and do its share by increased productivity with better equipment.)

The Ishpeming area is fortunate in having all potential and necessary requirements for a forward-looking community. First, we have something the whole world is crying for. It is steel which the President, himself, in his message to Congress, called particular attention to. We do not mine steel, but we have what the steel industry cannot be without—a potential ample supply of iron ore.

Marquette Production

What is the past, present and probable future production record of the Marquette range? The Marquette range ore, discovered in 1844, resulted in the first shipment from the Jackson mine in 1848. The Marquette range continued to be the sole producer of iron ore from the Lake Superior country until 1877 when the eastern end of the Menominee range was opened. This was followed by the Gogebic range shipping its first ore in 1884.

The Marquette range has produced a total of 246,353,331 tons up to the end of 1948. The high grade ore reserve tonnage of this range is estimated at approximately 66,640,000 tons by F. G. Pardee, appraiser of mines for the state of Michigan. At the symposium conducted by the University of Minnesota last January, Mr. Pardee estimated there were also 865,000,000 tons of lean ore per 100 feet in depth on this range.

Pardee said at the symposium: "One hundred and three years ago a party of explorers discovered the first iron ore in the Lake Superior region. One hundred and two years ago a group went to this discovery to stake out their claims and test the ore. The group was largely made up of residents of Jackson, Michigan, and the company they organized was called the Jackson Iron Company. The president of this company, A. V. Berry, accompanied the second expedition and wrote a letter telling how the party took 300 pounds of iron ore samples out on their backs from the Jackson mine to the mouth of the Carp river. He goes on to describe two failures to make iron ore at his furnace in Jackson, but he also records that a Mr. Olds who was at that time, producing iron from bog ore, finally made the first piece of iron from Lake Superior.

From this 300 pounds of ore has come the present Lake Superior iron mining industry of which we are a part. In this 100 years we have found the easily discoverable ore and have skimmed the cream from most of these deposits. We are starting out the second 100 years with some of our attention directed toward the use of the lower grades of iron ore. If our accomplishments in the next 100 years in the utilization of the low grade ores match what has been done in the past in the use of these direct shipping ores, there is no need to worry about the future of the iron mining industry in the Lake Superior region."

Estimates of low grade ore reserves in Michigan, tons of ore per 100 feet of depth, millions of tons, are:

	Crude Ore	Shipping Ore
Gogebic range	300	120
Dickinson county	120	48
Iron county	525	210
Marquette range	865	346

The resources of merchantable iron ore in the Lake Superior region are by no means threatened with extinction in the near future, nor does a calculation of the reserves in the region, property by property, area by area, lead to a different conclusion. Including with the direct-shipping ore only those concentrates to be produced by methods now in commercial use, and considering only such betterments in concentrating practice as may normally be expected, we arrive at a total figure of 2,270,000,000 long tons of merchantable ore in the Lake Superior region as of a basic date, May 1, 1945, which we believe is conservative. Of this total 114,000,000 tons is Gogebic range, 250,000,000 tons Marquette range and 40,000,000 tons Menominee range.

These estimates are based upon our intimate knowledge of properties and geological conditions in all the producing areas. The foregoing do not include concentrates which may be produced by fine grinding and agglomeration, nor concentrates which may be produced without fine grinding, but in which radical changes in concentration - methods or practice may be used. In the future, concentrates produced by both of these methods may be of major importance.

Refers To Taconites

Quoting Hugh G. Roberts and William Crago, Stakel said:

"In addition to the merchantable iron ore and concentrates totaling well in excess of two billion tons which can be produced without fine grinding, that will in all probability be yielded by mines in the Lake Superior region both open pit and underground, there are five billion tons of magnetic taconites on the Mesabi range, which according to Dr. John W. Gruner, professor of geology and mineralogy at the University of Minnesota, could yield a possible 1.7 billion tons of high grade concentrates with the use of simple magnetic concentration, but which would require fine grinding. Also, according to Van Hise and Leith, there are in addition, within the Lake Superior region, 60 billion tons of siliceous iron formation as estimated within reasonable depths, that contain 35 per cent or more iron, much of which may ultimately be made available either by concentration, or differing furnace practice, or some combination of

More than this, however, it contains an abundance of essential vitamins and rare minerals which are equally necessary if the hen is to be capable of reproduction over a period of time. Herein lies the explanation for its exceptional results and the reason why so many poultrymen have continued to feed King Midas Laying Mash for many years. ## The Nicest Distance Between Two Points

White sidewall tires available at additional cost.

In their admiration for Cadillac's beauty, and its wonderful world-wide reputation for quality and goodness, people sometimes overlook one of the greatest Cadillac virtues of all—its marvelous comfort. To ride in a Cadillac is to experience the supreme satisfaction that can be derived from personal transportation. The person at the wheel is the quickest to sense this—for he is the special beneficiary of Cadillac comfort. He enjoys, of course—in common with the other occupants of the car—the matchless benefits of Cadillac balance and springing and roadability. But he enjoys, in addition, the driving ease of a feather-light steering wheel; a quick, powerful, responsive motor that knows no counterpart for agility and smoothness; big, dominant brakes that are as soft to the pedal as sponge rubber; and an over-all sure-footedness on the highway that reduces driving strain to the minimum. Somebody has said that, once you have driven a Cadillac, you're unhappy at the wheel of any other car. Certain it is that a ride in a Cadillac—whether as driver or passenger—is the nicest distance between two points! Have you driven a 1949 Cadillac—or ridden in one? If not, you ought to do so. You are welcome in our showrooms at any time.

Strange as this may seem, it all makes sense, for it's part of a continuous training program designed to give you constantly improving telephone service. It's Michigan Bell's way of teaching a telephone employee how to do his or her job the quickest, most efficient way.

No step in providing service is too complicated or too simple to escape study. For Michigan Bell is always trying to find a better, more efficient way of doing it.

HIGHWAY CREWS
BATTLE DRIFTSHard Packed Snow Was Serious Problem

Schoolcraft county through highways were clear again early Monday morning after the county crews had struggled nearly twenty-four hours with mounting drifts.

While the amount of snow which fell in Sunday's storm was not the heaviest—about four inches on the level—the high wind that prevailed packed the snow into solid drifts and greatly impeded the progress of the plows.

The most serious difficulty was encountered on Highway U. S. 2 near the lake shore. Highways in the Cooks vicinity were also badly blocked.

Crews were still working late Monday afternoon widening the highway lanes and opening up driveways.

DR. G. SHAW
ROTE SPEAKERDelivers Lecture On
Subject Of Cancer

The cancer situation in America, while still extremely serious, is much brighter than it was a few years ago, thanks to effective research work, improved methods of treatment and a more common sense attitude toward the disease on the part of the public. Dr. George Shaw told members of the Manistique Rotary club at its noonday meeting Monday.

Dr. Shaw's talk followed the showing of a film, "The Traitor Within" released by the American Cancer Society to combat fear and ignorance on the part of the public toward this great problem.

Early diagnosis of the disease and prompt treatment is the most effective means of combating cancer, said Dr. Shaw. He warned that prompt attention should be given: any sore that does not heal, particularly on lips, mouth or breasts; moles, skin lesions and lumps which suddenly grow in size, persistent coughs and huskiness and sudden and prolonged change in functioning of the digestive system.

Cancer, he said, is neither hereditary nor contagious and anyone afflicted with the disease has no cause to feel ashamed, as no one is immune from the malady.

Next Monday's Rotary meeting will be in the nature of a tour of inspection of the Manistique Pulp and Paper Mill, with R. G. Hentschell, manager as host.

Two other young men, Robert Willis, 19, of Gladstone, and Leonard Couillard, 25, of Wells, have been arrested in connection with the breaking and entering into the Dutch Mill, dance hall north of Rapid River, and were to be arraigned before Justice Henry Ranguette in Escanaba today. In default of $1,000 bond, both are in the county jail. Willis was arrested by state police and Couillard was apprehended by state police and the County sheriff's department.

A quintet of young men ranging in age from 17 to 30 were arraigned yesterday before Justice of Peace Henry Ranguette, Escanaba, on charges of burglary.

All waived examination and were bound over to stand trial at the next term of circuit court.

Included in the quintet were Oliver Couillard of Wells, Wayne Kinnart of Perkins, Calvin Willis of Gladstone and John Boursaw and George Nedau of Nahma.

Bond was set at $1,000 in each instance and in no case was it furnished. All five were remanded in jail to await trial.

All are alleged to have been involved in one or more of a series of breakings and enterings of the Dutch Mill, a dance hall north of Rapid River and operated by Harry Buckman, Rapid River, and Hilding Norstrom, Gladstone. Quest of liquor, beer, wine, cigarettes, candy and gum prompted the breakings.

MANY STUDENTS

Visits High School

Tuberculin tests were given to freshmen and seniors of Gladstone high school yesterday by Dr. John Towey, head of Pinecrest Sanatorium at Powers.

Fifty-five out of sixty seniors submitted to the test and a good percentage of the ninth-graders also were checked.

In the event active cases are found or the tests show positive the students so showing will be given further examination through X-ray.

Junior Hockey Gets Into Full Stride As
Games Are Arranged

Junior hockey is getting into full swing here as games are arranged for the various teams entered in the loop.

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock the West End will play the Wolverine while on Friday night at the same hour Kipling will tangle with the Aces.

Next Saturday junior aggregations from Escanaba and Gladstone will clash. The local team will be selected from the junior loop by Johnny Lake and Gordon Haga.

General practice for junior league players is being held Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 8 o'clock.

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders will practice and have scrimmage on Wednesday and Friday from 4 to 5 o'clock.

The fact that boys have not been assigned to teams should not deter them from attending the practice sessions, it is pointed out. They should learn the game and plays and perhaps they will develop sufficiently to be placed on teams or there will be sufficient to form extra teams.

Some of the members of the Gladstone Indians hockey team have been assisting in the junior program and it is reported that several of the junior players are developing so that they will be ready to join the senior team either next year or the year after.

Mrs. Tony Globie left Monday for Chicago to visit with her daughter Mary.

Joe Louis Agrees To Mexican Divorce From Wife, Marva

Chicago, Feb. 8 (P)—Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion, since 1937, says he had agreed to a Mexican divorce by his wife, Marva. They were divorced in 1945, but later remarried.

The 34 year old champion said his wife had gone to Mexico and that at her request, he had appeared before the Mexican consulate here to sign and forward consent to the court proceedings.

"Any further statements must be made by Mrs. Louis," Louis said.

Louis married the former Marva Trotter of Chicago on Sept. 24, 1935. Mrs. Louis, who is 32, first filed suit for divorce in 1941 but the action was dismissed a few weeks later. She was granted a divorce in March, 1945, on grounds of desertion, but they later remarried. They have two children, Jacqueline 5, and Joseph Jr., 14 months.

Two Pro Grid Loops Still Poles Apart

Philadelphia, Feb. 8 (P)—The National Football League and the All-America Conference apparently are no closer together than they were three years ago when the AAC entered the professional gridiron field.

Bert Bell, commissioner of the 30-year old National circuit, said yesterday "there will be no common draft, no exhibition games and no World Series of football between the two leagues."

The All-America's answer was another challenge for a title played off between the rival pro loops. It came from Benjamin F. Lindheimer of Chicago, owner of the Los Angeles Dons and chairman of the league's executive committee.

At a press conference called to give the National league's official version of negotiations between the two factions, Bell said a merger between the two circuits is impossible under present conditions.

Kingsford (P)—Francis Beauchamp, Florence baseball player, testified in his defense in a $7,000 damage suit that he struck a heckling fan in self-defense last summer. He said the fan, Raymond La Hout of Kingsford, "raised his arms and came at me" during a game.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Off the cuff: The Escanaba Hawks are having a long vacation from game activity, which is probably a good thing. . . . But the time will be spent to good advantage in an effort to find a winning combination. . . . The Hawks will work out from 7 to 10 tonight and again Thursday night. . . . With the Newberry game here tomorrow night postponed until Wednesday, Feb. 23, the Hawks won't see action until next Tuesday in Marquette.

The Eskymos, with no game last week, had a full game intra-squad scrimmage last Friday to put them in shape for tonight's contest against the Gladstone Braves. . . . After tonight's game, three more remain on the Eskymo schedule. . . . They go to Menominee Friday night, to Manistiquie Friday, Feb. 18, and entertain Kingsford here Friday, Feb. 25, in the finale before tournament play.

St. Joseph's Trojans seek to duplicate their earlier season victory over Stephenson on the Eagles' court Friday night, and next Tuesday night, they will be host to the Munising Mustangs. . . . St. Joseph's will be the site of the Class C district basketball tournament early in March.

Latest major league baseball stars to sign up are Walker Cooper, New York Giant catcher; Bill Werle, pitcher, and Ralph Kiner, outfielder and slugger, for the Pittsburgh Pirates; August Johnson, Detroit pitcher, and Carl Furillo, Brooklyn outfielder.

Houghton's Mining Gazette has offered $50 for the best letter on the subject: "Why Michigan Tech needs artificial ice." . . . Michigan Tech is forging to the front in intercollegiate hockey. . . . It recently defeated Michigan, 1948 national intercollegiate champion, and last night scored six goals in seven minutes and 50 seconds to beat University of California, 6-4.

Michigan State college and Marquette university are returning to intercollegiate hockey competition. . . . Demonstration hall at East Lansing now houses the new MSC skating rink. . . . And Marquette has a new coach, a former University of Minnesota star.

The mailman has brought us many interesting things recently. . . . In this morning's mail, we received a piece of Kleenex and, from another donor, a colorful handkerchief with the inscription "Wailing Ward." . . . But we don't know whom to thank for these gifts. . . . The donors remained anonymous. . . . Thanks, anyway!

Esky, Brave Fives Clash Here Tonight

Escanaba lost 28-26 at Ishpeming and Gladstone lost 59-21 at Ishpeming, but you can throw last January 28, and it would appear the Braves have slipped from commendable pre-holiday showings.

Such is the case when the Eskymos and Braves meet at 8:30 tonight in the junior high school gymnasium. A preliminary between the two schools' reserve teams will open the program at 7.

On the basis of records of recent weeks, it would appear the Eskymos are definitely on the upgrade, having downed Soo, 53-42, last January 28, and it would appear the Braves have slipped from commendable pre-holiday showings.

But you can put it in your hat the Braves will be "up" for this game, and under the able tutelage of Coach Eldon "Cappy" Keil, they are very capable of turning out a worldbeater of a game against the Eskymos.

Of all this, the Eskymos and Coach James L. Rouman are very much aware. Consequently, they'll be all out for a win to convince their followers that the 53-42 win over Soo was no mistake.

Rouman likely will start Harold Pearson and Gary Abrahamson at forwards, Warren Gustafson at center and Dick Pryal and Harold O'Connell at guards, and Keil, in all probability, will start Billy Rajala and Larry LaPlant at forwards, Phil Cretens at center and Chuck Green and Jim Schram at guards.

Clarence Goldsworthy and Vance Hiney, both of Negaunee, will officiate.

Ezzard Charles Has Narrow Escape With Big Johnny Haynes

Philadelphia, Feb. 8 (P)—Ezzard Charles looked forward today to a possible June title match with Joe Louis and back to a close shave against 214-pound Johnny Haynes of New York.

Charles, 179-pound Cincinnati, had one of the narrowest escapes of his ring career last night in beating Haynes via a knockout at 2:38 of the eighth furious round of their scheduled 10-rounder.

Charles converted his speed and bounce into victory with a right uppercut that knocked Haynes flat on his back in the eighth.

A minute before, Haynes had been bombarding Charles across the ring with a series of slashing rights to the head.

Another Spartan Ball Player Signs A Major Contract

East Lansing, Feb. 8 (P)—Robert N. (Hobie) Landrith of Detroit, Michigan State's best catching prospect for the coming baseball season, has been signed by the Cincinnati Reds, MGC coach John H. Kobs said today.

Kobs said Landrith would report to Cincinnati Feb. 28. He said that the Detroit high school team, Detroit American Legion Star reportedly signed with the National League outfit for $6,000 a year for four years.

Landrith, a graduate of Detroit Northwestern high, won a freshman numeral but had not yet played varsity ball at MSC. Kobs said he was a "red hot" catching prospect and said his loss would result in a big hole in the Spartan lineup.

Northern Michigan Whips St. Mary's

Pontiac, Mich., Feb. 8 (P)—Northern Michigan college boosted its season's basketball record beyond the 500 mark last night by trimming St. Mary's of Orchard Lake, 71-24.

The win gave the Northerners a record of eight victories against seven losses. St. Mary's has one win against seven losses.

Forward Sam Minard paced the winners with 18 points, Forward Tony Kasnik was high for St. Mary's with nine. Northern Michigan led 35 to 13 at the half.

FOXES BEAT BOMBERS
Cooks, Feb. 8 — Hermansville Silver Foxes defeated Cooks Bombers, 62-50, in an exhibition game here. Bert Lund, Cooks, was high point man with 18 counters. Four Cooks men went out on fouls in the last half.

Not All Baseball Wages Hit Skids; Take DiMag, For Instance, $90,000!

New York, Feb. 8 (P) — Prices are going down and so are baseball salaries, but Joe DiMaggio, Bobby Feller, Walker Cooper and Ralph Kiner won't go hungry this year.

DiMaggio especially won't have any trouble keeping the wolf from the door. The New York Yankee star, along with Feller, Kiner and Cooper, agreed to terms yesterday. DiMaggio was the only one of the four, however, who admittedly received a raise.

The Yankee Clipper signed a one-year contract which experts believe will net him $90,000.

Neither DiMaggio nor Yank officials would reveal the exact terms.

DiMaggio said it was "by far the best contract I ever had." Yankee President Dan Topping said DiMaggio got a one year contract and a raise.

The signing took place in the Yanks' plush Fifth Avenue office—the third session between DiMaggio and the

Doug Bentley Still Leads NHL Scorers

Montreal, Feb. 8 (P)—Doug Bentley, little center of the Chicago Blackhawks, continues to show the way in the National Hockey League's individual scoring parade today.

Bentley, according to official averages released by the league, scored 19 goals and 32 assists for a point total of 51. Right winger Roy Conacher, Bentley's linemate, is second with 49 points. Bentley also leads the league in playmaking with 32 assists.

Sid Abel, Detroit's classy center, is third with 40 points. Abel also tops the circuit in goal-getting with 40. Jim Conacher of the Hawks and Montreal's Billy Reay are tied for fourth place at 37 points each.

Goal tender Harry Lumley of the Detroit Red Wings sports the best goals—against average, 2.2. Lumley has allowed 109 goals in 45 games. Montreal's Bill Durnan is next with an 2.45 mark. Netminder Chuck Rayner of New York has turned in the most shutouts, six. Right winger Bill Ezinicki of Toronto has spent the most time in the penalty box, 116 minutes.

Sports Mirror
(By The Associated Press)
Today a year ago—Sam Snead won the Texas Open golf tournament with 20-under par 264 for 72 holes.

Chicago, Feb. 8 (P)—Illinois put another notch in its Big Nine basketball lead last night by breezing over Northwestern 85-66. It was the highest victory total in a conference game so far this season.

Other favorites also followed form. Michigan tightened its third place hold with a 40-38 squeak over Wisconsin. Purdue and Ohio State remained locked in fourth place. The Boilermakers nailed Iowa 54-46 while Ohio State smashed Indiana 72-59.

The action left Illinois with a 6-1 conference mark, followed by Minnesota (idle last night) with 6-2, Michigan with 4-2 and Purdue and Ohio State with 5-3 apiece.

Firing resumes Saturday. Illinois is home to Ohio State in the top game while Michigan invades Indiana, Iowa goes to Minnesota and Wisconsin faces Northwestern in Chicago Stadium. Purdue is at Michigan State for a non-league tuneup.

At Champaign last night, Illinois flashed its balanced attack behind Dike Eddleman's 20 point output, 14 for Bill Erickson and 13 for Burdette Thurlby, who now retires for the season after being ruled "scholastically ineligible."

SPEED FLYING JOBS EASED

Prone - Position Pilot
Bed Devised

Dayton, Ohio—A bed for a pilot to permit flying speedy planes in a prone position was revealed here today at the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base. It is a development of the aero-medical laboratory at the base.

Dubbed a prone-position pilot bed, it is designed to lessen flying fatigue from long hours in the air, and gravitational pull, both well-known hazards in maneuvering jet-fighters where pilot blackout is apt to occur.

Pilots who took part in recent tests of the bed experienced no discomfort from lying stomach-down on the couch for as long as eight hours continuously, and noted no unpleasant after-effects.

To date the prone position bed has not been made a standard part of any plane, but has been installed in the nose of a B-17 for test purposes. It is to be tested soon in the forward part of an F-80 jet-fighter. Both planes permit the use of conventionally seated pilots to take over in emergencies.

In general the bed consists of a length of nylon netting supported over specially curved sides so as to conform as closely as possible with the body contour. Abdominal support can be adjusted to individual requirements, and pilots are able to make adjustments as the need arises during flight. The pilot's head is supported by an adjustable jaw rest. Special airplane controls have been designed for the prone position. Two movable pans with adjustable handgrips act as levers for steering the plane. The pilot's feet are braced against pedals which can serve either as rudder and brake controls in a conventional control system, or as brake pedals only in a system of the aileron-elevator-rudder type.

Union Boycott Kills University Course

Ann Arbor, Michigan (AP)—The University of Michigan bowed to a union boycott Monday and, for the second time, cancelled workers' education courses.

University President Alexander G. Ruthvin said: "We regret that the response of workers for whom the program was designed has not matched the efforts which the university has made to serve their needs."

The first of seven courses began a week ago and failed to draw a single student. Only one showed up the next day.

Both the CIO and AFL boycotted the courses, charging that they had not been consulted in drawing them up.

U. of M. originally discontinued the courses last summer after a General Motors Corp. spokesman said "marxist" teachings were introduced into some lectures.

The revised courses were set up when the unions accused the university of bowing to pressure from GM.

Bogart Tops List Of Money Earners

Washington, D. C., (AP)—Humphrey Bogart and Bette Davis of the movies have the new leads in that serial drama, "Who Made the Most Money?"

Bogart with $467,361, topped all in the treasury's latest listing of top money earners, which covered calendar 1946 and business fiscal years ending in 1947. The earnings were all before taxes which take a major part of six figure incomes.

This was the second big salary list for the same time period. It does not represent a final list of the nation's highest salaries.

Church Primate In Hungary Gets Prison Life Term

Aggravating factors, the judge added, were the Cardinal's high station in the church, his high degree of education, and the amassing of the crimes he committed.

Cardinal Mindszenty is the first prince of the Catholic church to face the penal measures of a government while actually a member of the Sacred College of Cardinals. He stood quietly, hands folded, face expressionless as Judge Olthys pronounced the court's findings.

All the defendants stood in a row, as the judges entered the tiny chamber seven minutes late, at 9:07 a. m. (3:07 a. m., Eastern Standard Time). Olthys announced "the people's court is now in session."

The Cardinal murmured as his name was called in the rollcall of defendants.

First, the judge announced the court's findings in each individual case. The tension grew with each minute of the proceedings, because in accordance with normal procedure the sentences were not pronounced until after all the findings as to each individual's guilt had been made.

Spectators Relax
The spectators visibly relaxed when it was finally disclosed that the Cardinal had been sentenced to life imprisonment—not death.

The prosecutor protested to the court against all the sentences but Father Ipsenky's, saying the terms should have been more harsh. He insisted that the Cardinal should receive the death penalty.

The Cardinal and other prominent Catholics were arrested Dec. 26, setting off one of the fiercest church-state controversies in modern times. They were charged with treason, plotting to overthrow the government, espionage and selling dollars at above the government-fixed rate — on the black market. Father Zakar had been arrested on treason charges about a month before.

Cardinal Mindszenty and the other six defendants were brought into court last Thursday. The first day of the trial lasted 13 hours, with the Cardinal at once pleading partly guilty but denying that he had plotted to overthrow the government. All the others, except Baranay, pleaded partly guilty, but denied plotting against the government. Baranay declared his innocence.

The Cardinal acknowledged writing a letter to the minister of justice offering to withdraw from his office for a time to allow the Hungarian bishops to negotiate for a church-state agreement which he previously had opposed.

(There have been unconfirmed reports that the government was seeking to establish a national Catholic church, independent of Vatican control.)

Drugging Charged
Cardinal Mindszenty acknowledged royalist sympathies, admitted engaging in illegal money deals and offered to make restitution for the amount of money lost by the state.

Finally, he said, he had changed his mind about a letter he wrote to the bishops before his arrest in which he warned them not to accept as bona fide any confession he might make because of "human frailty."

(This string of confessions and recantations in court set off charges abroad that the Cardinal had been tortured or drugged. One of the most prominent spokesmen making such charges was Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, who called the proceedings a "mock trial.")

On the third day of the speedy trial Prosecutor Elapi demanded a "hard and inexorable" sentence—death by hanging. Cardinal Mindszenty, he said, headed an organization to restore Archduke Otto of Hapsburg to the throne, and had committed "horrible crimes" regardless of whether he wore the purple of a cardinal or is clad in rags.

The Cardinal, in his last statement to the court, prayed that "the Lord give wisdom to the court when they pass their sentence, which may help a settlement at home and abroad."

The prosecutor said "Hatred of democracy and not defense of religion" was the cardinal's guiding motive, and denied that the prince of the church had been drugged, tortured or threatened to extort confessions.

Fight Starts In 1946
The trial brought to a climax the long running fight between the government and the Cardinal, who as an archbishop defied the Nazis when they were guiding the destinies of Hungary, and was imprisoned by them.

From the time in February, 1946, when he received the red hat symbolic of his high church office, the primate was at sword's point with the Communists who gradually took over the country and with the Russians.

The Russians first charged the Catholic clergy was inciting the people against the occupation forces.

The battle with the Communists grew when they announced plans to nationalize church schools. The Cardinal opposed the measure all the way, even threatening the ex-communication of any Catholic member of parliament who voted for the measure.

Matyas Rakosi, No. 1 Communist and deputy premier, in turn charged Cardinal Mindszenty, though of a peasant family, was a royalist and wanted the Hapsburgs back.

In June last year the Hungarian parliament voted to nationalize the church schools. While the Hungarian bishops rallied to their

Inform VA of Change In Address, Vets Told

Veterans in institutional and on-job training who submit changes of address to the Veterans Administration should indicate if the changes are temporary or permanent, H. A. Mosher, in charge of the Escanaba office, said today.

In cases of permanent changes of address, so specifying will speed up the transfer of the veteran's record to the regional office having jurisdiction over the area in which he will be located.

Trainees who are going on short vacations and have subsistence checks due to arrive during their absence should submit a change of address with a notation that it is only temporary so that their checks will be forwarded.

Kentucky Has Firm Grip On 1st Place Among U. S. Quints

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Kentucky's Olympic-seasoned veterans held a firmer grip today on the No. 1 rung in the National College basketball standings.

Adolph Rupp's gifted proteges gained more than half the first place votes cast in the weekly Associated Press poll and pulled 65 points in front of St. Louis' Billikens, their only conquerors.

The Wildcats snatched first place from St. Louis last week and solidified their position this time with 47 of the 72 No. 1 votes by sports writers and broadcasters.

This enabled them to pile up an overall 670 points compared with 605 for the Billikens, who defeated them 42-40 in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

Oklahoma A. and M., the defensive giant which holds a verdict over the Billikens in its 14-2 record, is third in the standings with 575 points. The Aggies received eight first place votes.

Pep Says He Took Saddler Too Lightly

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 8 (AP)—Willie Pep, coolly confident of regaining his featherweight title Friday night at Madison Square Garden, admits he took Sandy Saddler too lightly last October 29.

"I didn't think he was a good fighter," said Willie in his steaming dressing room yesterday after a good six-round workout. It still pains him to remember the night he was flattened by spindleg-legged Sandy in four rounds, losing his prized crown.

"After all, I saw Jock Leslie knock him out right here in my home town," Pep added. "Then last time when I was getting ready for the fight I sparred with Humberto Sierra. He beat Saddler and he kept telling me every day 'you win, you win easy.' I got to believing him."

"Then when I got to the weigh-in and I saw how skinny he was, I said to myself 'you'll have no trouble with this guy.' I sure was wrong."

Pep, dead serious about the rematch, shook his head as though still trying to shake off those left uppercuts Saddler landed at close range.

MSC-UM Fire Rekindled by Report

Detroit, Feb. 8 (AP)—A published report that Michigan and Michigan State have come to an agreement on future football scheduling kindled the off-season gridiron gossip today.

There wasn't any official confirmation to the report, however.

The newspaper (Detroit Free Press) which printed the report said that both Dean Lloyd C. Emmons of Michigan State and Fritz Crisler of Michigan "declined comment."

It was said the schools had compromised their differences under an agreement which calls for Michigan State to play the next four years at Ann Arbor.

In return, Michigan would play at Michigan State in 1953 and afterwards the teams would play a home and home series.

Each of the next four games would be the season opener at Ann Arbor, the report said.

Michigan and Michigan State have met on the gridiron for 35 years and for a considerable part of that time have been at odds over arrangements.

MSC FIGHTERS WIN

East Lansing, Feb. 8 (AP)—A victory by heavyweight Bob Maldegan of Detroit provided the edge to give Michigan State's wrestling team a 15-13 win over Cornell college of Iowa here last night. Maldegan, 20-year old 220-pound former Olympic wrestler, out-classed Cornell's Al Partin to take a 6-1 decision in the final bout of the evening.
